Course Description and Natural Environment

The course offers an 18-hole, par 72 layout measuring 6,016 meters, distinguished by its challenging design with signature holes that take full advantage of the rolling terrain and Mediterranean views. Five artificial lakes are spread throughout the course, surrounded by native vegetation, adding both scenic beauty and strategic complexity. Bunkers are designed to international golf standards, with high-quality sand and professional maintenance ensuring consistent playing conditions.

Golfers are required to plan each shot carefully, particularly on challenging holes such as 3, 7, 9, and 17. Players can use all clubs in their bag, as some holes demand technical shots. Over the years, Añoreta Golf has undergone significant renovations, including Bermuda greens, offering exceptional roll and playability.

Emblematic Holes

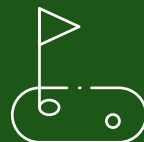

HOLE 7

Hole 7 is a par 4 that requires a solid tee shot, as the fairway is very narrow and protected on the right side by out of bounds and by a bunker at the landing area. Before the green, there is a lake and several bunkers surrounding the entrance. It is a short hole, but possibly the most iconic one, thanks to its impressive sea views.

Emblematic Holes

Hole 9 is a Par 3 measuring 178 meters from the yellow tees (men's tee). It features an elevated tee shot to a green well protected by bunkers — one at the front and another on the left side — with lateral water also on the left. The green has a significant slope from right to left, is undulating, and presents a real challenge.

Hole 17 is the most fun and spectacular. It is a Par 3, measuring 138 meters from the yellow tees (men's tee), with a lake stretching from the tee to the green. Two bunkers guard the right side of the green, which is large to balance the difficulty of the tee shot. It is a demanding yet very enjoyable hole.
